THE ANGLO-CHINESE CALENDAR MANUAL.

Handbook of reference for the deterdes mination of Chinese Dates, during the period from 1860 to 1869; with comparative Tables of Annual and Mensual Designations. &c., &c. Compiled by WILLIAM FREDE-BICK MAYERS, H.M.O.S.

Author's Preface. Most persons whose avocations or studies are connected even remotely with Chinese subjects are wont to confess the need of a convenient manual of reference for the purpose of determining dates according to either the European or the Chinese method of computation; and a system of comparison for the names attributed to years, months, and other periods is also frequently a desideratum with translators and readers of Chinese literature. The compiler of the following tables has thought, accordingly, that their publication in a convenient form may prove useful, although much yet remains to be done for the elaboration of comparative calendars, etc. that should leave nothing to be desired. With the exception of the Cyclical Table of Years, and the Table of Solar Terms, both of which were originally compiled by Dr. Morrison, and afterwards republished with requisite, especially improvements in Williams' Commercial Guide, from which (with some alteration) they are now copied, the whole of the matter assembled in the following pages is for the first time made accessible to general Published by C. A. SAINT, China Mail

THE "ASSOCIATION,"

WHAT has become of the Hongkong

HONGKONG, KONDAY, MAY 31, 1869.

Association" is a question which is beginning to be asked both in England and this Colony. Its chairman and committee are apparently of opinion that nothing will more conduce to the benefit of local interests than a state of "masterly inactivity." Subscriptions have been collected—with what object is not very clear-and the Association which was to confer such benefits upon the distressed Colony apparently considers that its great object is achieved. "Laborare est orare" to Saigon, Singapore, Galle, India, is a motto which the Association has Aden, Seychelles, Reunion and Mau- evidently dealt with Chinese-fushion he reversing it. Prayer (of that unostents. tious nature which is entirely secluded from the public eye) is doubtless indulged in with the full expectation that the results usually attending labour will follow. But meantime people in Hongkong and in China generally are getting impatient Curious rumours are in circulation that the members are afraid to meet lest discussion should expose the weakness of their arguments and, worse than that the indecision of themselves. There is plenty to talk about and plenty to act. about; but except in a general dislike of taxation, and a general desire to see it very much diminished, there is no unanimity. The Association is for political purposes, a simple collection of mutes, and the public are intensely chagrined to find that the early prophecies made of lame argument, blameable delay, and singular indifference to the For Swatow, Amoy and Foochow. -Per avowed objects of the Association on the part of its members, are but too fully vin. dicated. Its first public act was to send home a memorial feeble in tone and despite all warnings, too late to effect its object. Its last act is to sit down calmly

under aspersions upon British policy and in reply. The recall of Mr Gibson has on the part of the public. But the "Association" shews no sign. Where is the Chairman ? What are the Committee doing? We pause, (and are likely we fear to pause for a long time) for a A notification which appears in Saturday's Gazette requesting tenders for the supply of telegraphic posts is a satisfactory indication that the Government has at last determined upon utilizing the ing the outstations of police in immediate communication with the central office. None will grudge the outlay necessary for such a purpose, which will confer more real security upon residents in the Colony than the enlistment of hundreds of the dumb and turbaned monstrosities which, under the name of Sikhs, now afflict our highways and byeways (or rather don't afflict them when such a course could be of the slightest use.) As persistent advocates of the idea we are glad to see that our views have been adopted; and besides it will be the beginning of telegraphic communication for public use in China. THE Independence, a sort of semi-official document published at Macao, contains in its issue of the 28th the following sentence conspicuously placed at the head of its contents :----Consta-nos que já se acham franqueados. os portos de Hongkong e Cantão ao negocio da emigração para Havana e Perú, podendo contratar-se colonos por 8 annos como se faz em Macáo.

Which being interpreted is that the Independente is informed that the Ports of Hongkong and Canton have been opened to emigration thence to Havana and Peru ; contracts for 8 years being possible as at Macao

We simply do not believe it. We do not believe that after the language used by His Excellency the Governor himself regarding emigration to those localities he will perinit Hongkong to become the depot of a traffic scandalous in its commencement and cruel in its end. We do not believe that with Havanah in a state of anarchy, and Peru with yet unexplained charges of cruelty hanging over her, Sir Richard MacDon; nell will authorize an emigration which would soon qualify Hongkong for denunciations as powerful as those launched against Macao. It is needless to say that our merchants, our agents, our officials, are "above suspicion." The abuses his with the Chinese crimps and the Peruvian or Spanish Masters, and those abuses will still continue if Hongkong however clean handed, becomes a depot of the Havana trade. Again we say we do not believe the Independente. But if its statement be true we join it in the contempt with which it must regard the former proceedings of our, government. If (as we hope to learn it is) it be false, it will be but snother instance of the value of Independents

BRIEF ARTICLES.

(From the Spectator, April 10.) Don Ferdinand of Coburg and Portuga has finally refused the Crown of Spain greatly, we must say, to his discredit. I has preferred a position of lettered ease to one in which he might have benefited an entire nation. There is reason to believ that he has recommended his second son, Don Augusto: but he is a lad of eighteen unable to makes up his mind to the Duke friends, intend to resign, leaving Prim head a title he would be able, if successful, shoot their superior officers. One man who TELEGRAPH POSTS.—Sealed Tenders will shot a serieant for impeding his promotion has actually been pardoned by telegraph, "in stituent Body." The man was a cold-blood for eight days, and had received no prove cation other than that stated.

The Emperor Napoleon has issued an ad dress to the Electors of France, an early copy of which appears to have been sent to the Telegraph. It is in the form of a pamphlet, and is signed "Un Ancien Constituent." The pamphlet is rather poor, its main arguments being that the Emperor has secured order, increased prosperity, and raised the position of France; that an unchecked Assembly would be a despot, and that liberty is to be found in a balance of forces. All that may be true, though we do not see why the nation should not be despotic over atself. but the deduction drawn by the Emperor, that Electors should send up a devoted Legislature, is surely au odd one? The "devotion" of the Legis lature is just the very thing which in France destroys the balance of forces, and so produces despotism. 🦯

Mr Graves Member of Liverpool, want the Post Office to reduce its charges for al printed matter in a halfpenny for two ounces. He brought forward his resolu tion on Tuesday, and made a capital case showing that England was far in the rear of all other countries as to such charges and that the Post Office lost business by its prices. Lord Hartington did not defend them, but said he must wait, as the immediate loss would be £300,000, which the revenue could not bear. It was quite clear, however, that the reform would come; but Mr Graves very stapidly took a division against delay, and was beaten by 229 to 62, numbers which in no way represent the pers'is no doubt far too high, doubling the cost of a cliean daily to country readers and we would willingly vote for its total abolition, as an educational grant, but whether the journals will like Mr Grave's doubtful. It will extend their circulation but diminish their advertisements, many keen tradesmen believing that the best way to advertise is by oiroular. We doubt that as most men hate circulars, and make a point of never opening them; but that is, we believe, the trade opinion.

Mr Sprague, Senator from Rhode Island is said to be the richest man in that body and has in many ways had a singularly successful life. Nevertheless, he put to the Senate, in a recent speech on the Tenure Office Bill, the following question, "And there justice anywhere in the Who that is a poor man dare attack one there protection for the rights or liberties the citizens in this boasted land of freedom?" A member of Parliament has actually been found to assert deliberately that man ought to pay his debts. This is Mr Jessel, who in a speech of striking ability argued on Monday night in favour of the principle universal everywhere except England, that if a man acquired property after bankrupter he should be ordered to pay his creditors. The common argument against this course is that a bankrupt would not work a but that is not found to be the case in other countries: where the surrender of property deer not entitle the bankrupt to a full discharge. On the other hand, a confectioner, and all the publicans, were amongst the most savage of its opponents. Perhaps these persons find that the proposed gloom of a London Funday gives a morbid stimulus to the more artificial appetitee. But the net result of the excursion seems to be that Capital is in favour of Sunday gloom, and Labour against it.

> A PROSPEROUS FRENCH COLONY. The island of Reunion, in the Indian Ocean, which recently gave the French Government some trouble, in consequence of an attack by the natives on one of the garrisons, is altogether a very pleasant spot. though the manner of landing upon it is somewhat primitive. A heavy sea beats upon the shore, and > there are no harbours; jetties have been ron out with cranes at the end of them; and on the arrival of the boat a tub is lowered, into which the passenger is stowed, and, after being hoisted thirty or forty feet into the air, is landed in Reunion. Once there he finds some things that may content him. The island is by no meaus unhealthy. The days and nights are about the same length all the year through; the day is never more than thirteen hours. As headquarters of the French naval station in the Eastern seas, Reunion always has a force maintaining admirable order; the only complaint seems to be that the representative element in the Government is not so real and efficient as to exercise any control in the matter of taxation. The population is now about 210,000. In 1848, when elavery was abolished, there were 60,000 slaves, 4000 East Indian immigrants, and 45,000 whites, free coloured people. Under our recent convention with France, crowds of coolies have arrived from the seaboard of Hindos. tan; and latterly there has been a large introduction of natives of the new French colonies in Coohin China It is extraor. dinary with what facility new comers acquire a knowledge of the vernacular, which appears to be a combination of Malabar. Malgache, and Creole French. The coloured Creoles are conrageous, gay, and good tempered, and generally possessed of more than average abilities; they might be made canable of a future if they could be cured of their uncontrollable indolence, mendacity, and propensity for appropriating the food of a neighbour. Education of some sort is within the reach of all, but many boys who at school show signs of fair abilities subsequently relapse into ignorance and bar barism. The absolute necessaries of life rice, salt fish, and a vegetable called bredd -are cheap enough, and for the poorer classes life is easy; for the upper classes Bourbon is enormously expensive. Its area is about 628,000 acres, of which 386,000 are now cultivated. The different altitudes afford every variety of climate, and the island is admirably adapted for the growth of almost every plant and vegetable. Sugar is the staple product; the cane is cultivated. from the very edge of the sea and up the mountain slopes of the interior. but above, the height of 2000 feet it grows only feebly. with the hoe, and the planters set their faces against the plough. Coffee and potatoes are also articles of export. Bourbon formerly produced considerable quantities of cotton, said to have been of the very has deen adaduoued for the last forly years: Cotton was introduced from Surat in 1680. and it is said that the seed of the Sea Island cutton originally came from Reunion. Tobacco is cultivated almost in sufficient quantity for the whole local consumption. The production of grain has greatly declined in consequence of the land being impoverished. Some twenty years ago an attempt was made to introduce the manufacture of silk, mulberry being found wild in large quantities; but the effort seems to have been badly managed, and all interest in the matter died away. The silk worms produced an extraordinary quantity of silk. and of a very superior quality. A promising trade has lately sprung up in the fibre of the aloe. By a simple process the fibre is detached from the leaf and dried : it is in appearance somewhat similar to flax. It fetches in France about 9d per lb. and about £1000 worth are exported every month by the mail steamers. A prodicious quantity of the plant exists all over the sland. The imports in Reunion are chiefly provisions and cotton and woollen goods. In 1864 the imports were of the value of £1,397,189. The exports are sometimes sometimes over £2,000,000, and sometimes. under £1,000,000. Blight and the "borer" will vary the product of sugar, and the land suffers from droughts, in consequence of the indiscriminate destruction of the forests in the high lands. The revenue in 1867 amounted to about £216.000.

HE "TREATY PORTS OF CHINA & JAPAN," AND "NOTES AND QUERIES ON OHINA AND JAPAN."

BXTRACTS FROM REVIEWS. From the Straits Times," July 27, 1868.) Some time ago we had occasion to remark upon the progress that Literature as represented by the Press had made and was making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the receipt of a Hongkong publication which deserves some notice and which we have much pleasure in introducing to the knowledge of our readers. We allude to Notes and Queries on thing and Japan, published monthly by Mr Saint, the proprietor of the China Mail newspaper. This publication is well printed on good paper, and in size and shape is very like its well-known namesake or prototype at home, and is equally a mine containing very curious and useful information regarding the language, literature, history, magners and customs of the Chinese and in a less degree of the Japanese. It says a good deal for the extent and stability of the footing of Europeans in Chila, that such a publication as this should be established and conducted with apparently successful vigour. The publication is altogether a very interesting one, and wishing it every success, we commend it to the attention and support of our readers.

From the "Eriend of India," June 4, 1868.) We acknowledge with thanks the receipt the numbers for the current year of Notes and Queries," a most deserving Anglo Chinese monthly, edited by Mr N. B. Dennys, whose "Treaty Ports of China and Japan sare so well known. From the names attached to the "Notes" we can see that the contributors include some of the best Chinese scholars in the East. Its interest is not conflued to China, and it will be of valuable assistance to all scholars, who have directed their attention towards the subject of Buddhism and its literature, and generally to all who are interested in oriental autiquities. It deserves to be better known in India-

(From the "London Examiner," May 16, 1868.)

This really useful volume ["Tresty Ports China and Japan "] is intended as a guide for travellers and residents in China and Japan, and as a book of reference for mercantile men generally. It contains an account, historical and political, of all the open ports of these countries, together with eking, Yedo, Hongkong, and Macao. It has been carefully compiled and edited by Mr N. B. Dennys; and the elaborate maps and plans, with which the work abounds, considerably enhance its value. * * *
